Afternoon Tea

a history

Step into a timeless tradition with our Afternoon Tea experience — a graceful ritual that blends history, hospitality, and indulgence. Originating in 19th-century, afternoon tea was popularized by Anna, the 7th Duchess of Bedford, who sought a light refreshment between lunch and dinner.

In Ireland, tea is more than a beverage — it's a symbol of warmth, welcome, and connection. The Irish have long held a deep affection for the humble cuppa, weaving it into daily life and celebratory moments alike. Afternoon tea here carries that same spirit; all baked here in our own pastry kitchen by our amazing pastry chefs.

Whether you're marking a special occasion or simply indulging in a moment of calm, our afternoon tea invites you to slow down, sip deeply, and enjoy the art of conversation — the Horse and Jockey way.
